Wilson and Marshall Elected In A Sweeping Democratic Victory

Governor of New Jersey and His Running Mate Received More Than 400 Votes in Electoral College and Score Splendid Triumph For National Democracy.

SOLID EAST JOINS THE SOLID SOUTH

New York, Nov. 6.—It was known as early as 9 o'clock last night that the Democratic ticket had swept the country and that more than 400 electoral votes were assured.

Early returns gave Governor Wilson and Governor Marshall the "solid south" and the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, West Virginia, Indiana and Missouri. As the night advanced and returns from the west began to come in these earlier estimates were confirmed, and Montana, New Jersey and New Mexico were added to those that seemed certain for the Democratic candidates, while scattering returns from San Francisco and Los Angeles made it probable that California might join the Wilson and Marshall column.

Democratic Governors.

Sulzer, in New York; Ralston, in Indiana; Foss, in Massachusetts; Baldwin, in Connecticut; and Major, in Missouri, are all elected.

Total Electoral Votes—Democrats, 326; Republicans, 16; Progressives, 16. Electoral votes necessary to a choice, 266.

And There Stood Old Kentucky.

Sweeping all opposition before them, the Democrats of Kentucky rolled up an enormous plurality for Wilson and Marshall, elected nine out of eleven Congressmen, and carried the State by a handsome majority over both opponents of the Democratic presidential nominee. Indications are that full returns will show a plurality of over 100,000.

Carries Republican Strongholds.

The victory was the most complete in the history of political warfare in Kentucky. Counties never before known to go other than Republican were swept into the Democratic column, record pluralities were equaled and then doubled, and the climax was reached when such counties as Laurel, one of the banner Republican strongholds of the rock-ribbed Eleventh district, and Ohio, the biggest Republican county in the Fourth district, cast more votes for Wilson than for either Taft or Roosevelt.

Close For Second Place.

The fight for second place in Kentucky was close, with a great lead over Taft in Louisville, the Roosevelt followers confidently counted on running second, but the Bull Moosers fell away badly in the State and apparently will be third when the complete returns are totaled.

Nine Democratic Congressmen.

The congressional delegation from Kentucky will be as follows:

- First District—A. W. Barkley, Democrat.
- Second District—A. O. Stanley, Democrat.
- Third District—R. Y. Thomas, Democrat.
- Fourth District—Ben Johnson, Democrat.
- Fifth District—Swagar Sherley, Democrat.
- Sixth District—A. B. Rouse, Democrat.
- Seventh District—J. Campbell Cantrill, Democrat.
- Eighth District—Harvey Helm, Democrat.
- Ninth District—W. J. Fields, Democrat.
- Tenth District—John W. Langley, Republican.
- Eleventh District—Caleb Powers, Republican.

Appellate Race In Doubt.

The race for Judge of the Court of Appeals in the Seventh district is close, with C. C. Turner showing great strength against his Republican opponent, A. T. Kirk. John D.

white, the Progressive, is a poor third.

Before midnight President Taft and former President Roosevelt had conceded the election of Wilson and Marshall, and the successful candidates were being overwhelmed with congratulations from leading men of the country. The Solid South and an almost solid East joined their ballots for the Democratic party.

Indications are that the Senate will be safely Democratic and the House is overwhelmingly in line with the new administration. Kentucky rolled up a Democratic majority of about 100,000 and sends nine of the congressional delegation to Washington.

Tennessee.

The only discordant note is from Tennessee, where Hooper, Rep., appears to be re-elected by a very small majority. The Legislature is strongly for Patterson, which is said to insure the defeat of Sanders, Rep.

THE LATEST.

Yesterday's later news made but few changes:

Pennsylvania, Michigan, South Dakota and Washington are for Roosevelt.

Taft has Utah, Wyoming, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Illinois, Minnesota, Kansas, Idaho and Rhode Island are doubtful.

Tennessee elects Hooper by from 5,000 to 10,000, but the Legislature appears to be Democratic on later returns.

Berger, Socialist, of Milwaukee, and Uncle Joe Cannon, of Illinois, are defeated for Congress.

Quite a number of cities invited the forty-eighth State Sunday School association to meet with them next year, among them Hopkinsville. However, the indications are that Lexington will be selected as the place of the meeting.

Opossum Supper.

Mr. Chas. Vaughan, city workhouse keeper, gave a 'possum supper at his residence last night, which was attended by the members of the council and other city officials. A delightful supper was served, featuring the delicious virginiana.

Elderly Person at Stamp Window Would Not Be Hurried While Making Five-Cent Purchase.

The elderly person with the spectacles, who had dropped into the Federal building and was sniffing the odors and looking leisurely around, stepped up to a stamp window. "Sell postage stamps here?" she inquired.

"Yes, ma'am."

"Sell 'em in any quantity a body wants?"

"Yes, ma'am. What—"

"Got any of the one-cent kind?"

"Yes, ma'am; how—"

"I don't want 'em torn apart. I want 'em all in one piece."

"Well, how many?"

"One-cent kind, remember."

"Yes, ma'am. How many?"

"Give me a nickel's worth."

"Here you are. Now please—"

"Don't try to hurry me, young man. I've as much right in this building as you have."

Handing the clerk a $5 bill, she waited patiently for the change, picked up the stamps, folded them, placed them in her purse, and walked leisurely away.

"I made him earn his money, any way," she muttered to herself.

HARD ON PATIENT.

Young Surgeon (in hospital after having just removed the patient's leg)—Does the operation meet with your approval, doctor?

Head Surgeon—Very well done, only for a slight mistake.

Young Surgeon—Why, what's the matter?

Head Surgeon—You've amputated the wrong leg.

Accident, Nothing.

Dubbleigh's car lay flat on its side and deep in the mud in the freshly plowed field, having skidded off the road, through the low stone wall, to get there.

"Ahi!" cried a passerby from the roadside. "Had an accident?"

Dubbleigh tried to hold his tongue, but the strain was too much for him. "No, of course not," he replied, coldly. "I've just bought a new car and have brought my old one out here to bury it. Got a pickaxe and a shovel in your pocket you could lend me? I can't seem to dig deep with my motor horn."—Harper's Weekly.

Harmony of Opinion.

She was holding the teething baby, trying to pacify Alice crying with a toothache and attempting to instruct her husband how to prepare a mixture for Roy's sore throat—all at the same time.

"John, if I could have looked forward ten years and taken in this scene, do you know what I should have done?"

John, with alacrity: "Yes, dear; just what I wish I had done."—Lippincott's.

Almost Lost a Chance.

"It's nobody's business," said the beautiful actress, "whether I intend to get married again or not."

"I admit it," replied the reporter. "Excuse me for asking. Goodbye."

"Wait a moment, please. If you care to run a picture of me in connection with the story I shall be glad to give you one. I've just had a new sitting."

The Figures.

Young Man—How much a year does it require to support a wife nowadays?

Old Man—Oh, anywhere from $500 to $50,000.

Young Man—Isn't that rather indefinite?

Old Man—No. It always takes a man's.

Great Success.

Clara—Isn't it perfectly lovely—this higher education of women.

Dora—Why?

Clara—The paper says 80 per cent of the Vassar college graduates get married.

Still Subordinate.

"The airship will yet furnish greater sport than horse racing?"

"Perhaps. But I haven't yet heard of an aviator who gets anything like the annual income of a good jockey."

Proof to the Contrary.

"They say that Wombat is a genius."

"Nothing to that story. It's a coward. I loaned him a dollar once, and he paid me back all right enough."

They Will.

"Some men will go to any extreme for money."

"Yes. Even to talking into a dictograph."

CALL OF THE GRID

BY APPY

The melancholy days have come,
The saddest of the year,
When little Willie wanders home
With only half an ear;
With sundry gouges in his eye,
The bark peeled off his nose;
With burdock thistles in his hair
And mud upon his clothes.

The baseball and the padded glove
No more he loaves around,
The fishing pole in Willie's hand
No longer can be found;
No more with marbles, kites or tops
He whiles the time away;
No more at 'tip' or 'one old cat'
Does Willie deign to play.

But faces he forth in baggy pants
And sweater soiled and torn,
And though his hair be two feet long,
He scorns to have it shorn.
And ever and anon, behold,
As Willie swaggers round,
He madly hurls his tender form
Head foremost to the ground.
Though battered be his fair young map,
And lame his little gimp,
He proudly bears his doughty scars
And glories in his limp.
By these and sundry other signs
'Tis very, very clear
The baseball season passeth, and
The football time is here.

Aurora Borealis.

According to a theory recently established, the aurora borealis is formed of cathode rays, emitted by the sun and deflected by the terrestrial magnetic field in the upper strata of the atmosphere. The velocity of these cathode rays must be nearly equal to that of light, and very much greater than the velocity of cathode rays produced in the laboratory. Lenard concludes that these extremely "hard" cathode rays are emitted by unknown radioactive substances in the sun.

COST OF ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Secretary Wilson Shows That 300,000 Miles of Public Thoroughfares Need Betterment.

According to information just made public by the director of the office of public roads, Indiana leads all the states of the Union in mileage of improved roads. Most of the improved roads of Indiana and Ohio are composed of gravel and were, for the most part, built by farmers in working out the taxes. The eight leading good roads states are: Indiana, Ohio, New York, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Illinois, California and Massachusetts.

The states which are leading in progressive road building are: New York, Georgia, Washington, Missouri, South Carolina, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, New Jersey, Florida and Maryland.

That the nation-wide movement for the improvement of the public roads involves a large undertaking is indicated by information just made public by the U. S. department of agriculture. Secretary Wilson shows that 300,000 miles of roads must be improved before the public road system can be considered really efficient.

It is only within recent years that the movement for better roads has gained force. The consequences of delay are shown in the fact that there are now but 190,476 miles of improved roads in this country. These improved roads constitute 5.66 per cent. of the total mileage of all public roads, improved and unimproved. It is figured that the percentage will have to be increased to 20 before traffic can be moved throughout the country with the minimum of wear and tear on horse, wagons and automobiles.

The French system of roads, long considered the best in the world, was bonded by Napoleon III. for $6,000,000, and something in the neighborhood of $612,775,000 has already been spent on that system. In this country, owing to the great distances, it is probable that close to $2,000,000,000 will have to be spent before a proper road system is developed.

While the amount necessary to perfect a great road system seems fabulously large, it does not seem too large when it is divided among the various states and spread over a period of five, ten or fifteen years. When it is considered that New York state has bonded itself for $50,000,000 and that $5,000,000 a year is now being expended by that state, it will be seen that a nation-wide system might soon be perfected were all states to progress as rapidly.

South Carolina, Alabama and Florida have also made great gains by building sand-clay roads, and this is a very cheap and satisfactory type of road building.

The Window Garden Season.

The window gardener's year begins in September, because that is the time to bring tender plants indoors, and because bulbs begin to arrive then.

The ideal is to have flowers indoors every day from the first frost of autumn until the last frost of spring.

Bulbs alone will give flowers from Christmas to Easter. A little $2 collection of bulbs will give a spot of color daily if carefully selected and managed, but it is pleasant to have a roomful of bulbs—about 250 pots.

The most practical bulbs for Christmas bloom are Roman hyacinths and the paper white narcissus. Chinese sacred lilies will also bloom then if protected from drafts.

For February, plan to have crocuses.

For March and April plan to have tulips, hyacinths and daffodils.

Asparagus Doubly Useful.

Asparagus plant is hardy. It requires six weeks for the seed to germinate and come up. The young plants may be cultivated in rows as other garden vegetables, and set in permanent rows or beds this fall or spring.

The plants are very hardy, will stand all kinds of treatment, but will respond liberally to good treatment, and thrive in one place for ten or twenty years. The asparagus plant is doubly useful. The young shoots can be used for food, and the foliage branches for decoration. Sprays of asparagus are equaled by few other plants for their pleasing effect in decoration.

Good Roads.

Good roads are essential to the success of the farmer the world over. Poor roads are very costly; they cause the speedy wearing out of wagons, the loss of animals and the failure to market crops profitably. Good roads mean a greater ease in marketing, longer wear of farm wagons, more profit and more comfort. Good roads are not expensive; all roads can be improved at small cost in money, time and labor.

Avoid Weed Growth.

If there is any part of your garden or fields that you do not wish to grow vegetables or staple crops on do not allow it to grow up in weeds. Weeds are obnoxious, do not afford any profit or pleasure to the land owner and rob the soil of its fertility. Sow any unoccupied parts of your land in cowpeas or other legumes. It will pay you well.

Poor Fall Work.

Where the road is plowed and scraped up till it is so late in the fall, the dirt does not have time to pack and settle before it freezes, with the result that these newly-worked spots are not only rough throughout the entire winter, but they will be soft and difficult of travel all next spring.

HOW TO KNOW AND AVOID THE VENOMOUS SNAKES.

By a careful study of the subject it has been found that there are about twenty-five different kinds of snakes in the state of Ohio.

From our own knowledge of reptiles it is probable that this number of varieties will be found in most of the middle west and western states.

The venomous snakes found in that section of the country west of Pennsylvania are two kinds of rattlesnakes and the copperhead. The copperhead is pretty widely distributed. It is hazel-brown, shaded with coppery red and has on its back fifteen to twenty-five V-shaped yellow blotches and a row of thirty-five to forty black spots on each side. The head is copper-colored, and the length of this snake is not over forty inches.

The copperhead is a dangerous snake, because it has no rattle with which to warn persons approaching it and is quick to strike. However, it quickly disappears on the clearing of land, and the settlement of the country. There are two species of rattlers, the prairie and the common rattlesnake. The former varies in color, existing in both light and dark form and many people believe there are several species of this snake. It lives in low, swampy regions.

The common rattlesnake is larger and much lighter in color. It lives among the rocks.

Poisonous snakes are all attractive in appearance and may usually be known by the rather short, stout body and flattened head.

They are different from all other snakes in that they have well developed poison fangs in the front of the upper jaw, a deep pit at the side of the head, plainly visible between the eye and the nostril.

The venomous snake can always be told by the pupil of the eye, which stands vertically, similar to the pupil of a cat's eye, while in the eye of other snakes the pupil runs horizontally.

Pictures of the heads of poisonous and non-poisonous snakes should be carefully studied, as by close observations the pits on the sides of the head and the catlike eyes will always disclose the nature of the reptile.

When the different snakes are considered, their food will be found to include a great variety of animals. Some snakes feed largely upon insects, still others upon mice. Many do not show any decided choice of food and take whatever they find easiest to procure. So far as they make their food of field mice, they are highly beneficial, for these mice cause much injury. Many of the insects and animals taken for food are injurious and snakes benefit man by feeding upon them. Much of the food eaten has no economic value and therefore is not considered in economic treatment. However, snakes sometimes feed upon birds and eggs and some of them have adopted this habit to the extent that during the nesting season most of their food is of this kind. So far as they do this they are considered injurious, for most birds are highly beneficial. Birds that build on the ground suffer most from this cause, although some serpents climb trees readily and nests in trees are not beyond their reach.

There are two species of large black snakes in several states; one is called simply black snake, or at other times, when it has a bluish color, blue racer. The other is properly called pilot snake. The two are distinguished by the following characteristics: The blue racer has smooth, shining scales all over its body, a white marking on chin and throat and nearly uniformly colored scales without white margins. The pilot snake has keeled scales all over its body; the scales have white margins, but there is no white marking on chin and throat. Both of these snakes are commonly found in meadows where they ready access to meadow mice. Just last summer the writer happened to be in a meadow at the time it was being mown and had the pleasure of seeing an immense blue racer come out of the tall grass with a large mouse in its mouth. It stopped in plain sight and swallowed the mouse whole, as is the habit of all snakes.

This was a demonstration of an economic habit, and as meadow mice were abundant in the field in question, the serpent had no doubt taken up its abode there for the time being and was fattening itself on the rodents.

We have a number of small snakes like the grass snakes, ribbon snakes and water snakes, and some larger ones, like the fox snakes, milk snakes, and one of the water snakes, which are more or less common everywhere. Some of these are likely to continue common where some other species will become extirpated, for each has some peculiarity which acts as a protection. The water snakes live in small creeks and ditches everywhere and find protection in debris that gathers in obstructing places. As we shall always have open waterways, those snakes have a great prospect for the future. The grass snakes are colored like the foliage and are thus well protected. The milk snake is adapted for living about human habitations and so will not be necessarily reduced in numbers by the clearing and ditching of the country.

Side view—mouth open to show fang raised and in filmy sheath, small teeth and harmless forked tongue. Shows also how the head is spread and the lips held back when the snake is striking.

As snakes are more often than any other animal killed at sight, the writer cannot resist the temptation at this time of saying something in their behalf. It is surely a pity that no snake, no matter how useful, or on the other hand how lacking in any harmful trait, dare show itself in the open without risking its life. The water snake has some way of appreciating this situation, for when it comes out of the water to sun itself, it rests in such a position that it can slide off into the water and mud at a second's notice. A large number of our species of snakes do more good than harm, and this fact should be considered in our treatment of them.

New Town an Old Name.

The city of St. Paul's first speech was Antioch of Pisidia. It is important to designate the city of the province of which it was the capital, since Seleucus, the founder of the city, the great conqueror and ruler of the Seleucid empire, named no less than sixteen cities after his father Antiochus.

The name Antioch, however, is not repeated in ancient geography so often as many modern names recur in modern geography. There is, for instance, a Washington in almost every state of the union, and no postmaster would be wise enough to know where a letter addressed to "Newton" should go unless the state was also added. It is interesting, by the way, to note the name Newton was as popular in the ancient geographies as in the modern, only it was called Neapolis, which meant new town, or new city.

There was a Neapolis through which St. Paul passed on this very journey some twenty miles from Antioch. At another Neapolis on the coast of Macedonia he landed on his way to Philippi on a later journey; and the great modern city of Naples is but another way of spelling Neapolis or new town.—Christian Herald.

Opinion of an Expert.

Archibald, age six, son of a south side family, newly arrived from a small town, is against automobiles first, last and all the time. He much prefers wagons. He explained his point of view to his mother the other day. It appeared that he had found motor cars useless for "hitchin' on" his little red cart. Said Archie: "They ain't no good. They ain't no good place to hitch on, and if you do hitch on they go so fast it pulls your hair, an' if you stay on till it pulls yer hair, they squirt stuff on you that makes yer clothes smell second handed."—Kansas City Journal.

Baseball a Great Civilizer.

Baseball is the greatest of all civilizers, even more potent than the time-honored three R's or spelling book, according to Prof. William Pierce Gorsuch of the University of Chicago, who has just returned from a tour around the world. American teachers in the Philippines have recognized the "civilizing" influence of the national game. Professor Gorsuch says, and are daily giving instruction in baseball just as they do in reading and writing. According to the teachers, love for this pastime is causing a rapid decrease in the number of cock and bull fights in the islands.

VARIETY OF CUSTARDS

SURELY SOME HERE TO PLEASE ANY PALATE.

Chocolata, Always a Favorite, May Be Easily and Quickly Prepared—Made From Chopped Nut Meats Is Another Delicious Confection.

Chocolate Custard—Cook 4 teaspoons cocoa in one-half cup hot water till thick, then add 4 cups hot milk. Pour over 2 well-beaten eggs and stir well. Strain into a pudding dish and steam 20 minutes. Serve with whipped cream piled on top, sweetened and flavored. One cup sugar should be added to the custard.

Fresh Apple Custard—To one pint apple sauce add one quart sweet milk, four eggs, one tablespoon cornstarch, pinch of salt, one-fourth grated nutmeg, one tablespoon melted butter, juice one lemon and grated rind of half. Bake with under crust only and do not put any meringue on it.

Nut Custard—Poach the beaten whites of four eggs by spoonfuls in three cups of scalding milk, drain thoroughly and return the milk which drips off to the double boiler. Beat the yolks of the eggs until light, add half a cup of sugar and half a salt-spoon of salt, pour in the hot milk slowly, then stir and cook until thick. Remove from the fire, add three-quarters of a cup of chopped nut meats, flavor with almond or vanilla, turn into a glass dish and cover with the poached whites.

Coffee Custard—Tie half cup of ground coffee in a muslin bag, put it in a quart of hot milk and cook 20 minutes in a double boiler. Stir two tablespoonfuls of flour into one cup of sugar, add half salt-spoon of salt and four beaten eggs, stir in the flavored milk and cook in the double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Fill sherbet cups with the custard and serve ice cold with a spoonful of whipped cream in each.

Orange Custard—Peel four sweet oranges, remove all white pith and cut in circles. Lay the slices in a glass dish and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Pour over them a custard made of the yolks of two eggs, one tablespoon of sugar, one cup of milk and vanilla flavoring. Put above mixture in a saucepan and set in a larger pan of boiling water. Heat slowly and stir till it begins to thicken. Do not let it boil or it will curdle. Add whites of eggs, beat thoroughly and pour over oranges. Serve cold.

Lemon Custard—Grate the thin, yellow rind of lemon and press out all the juice. Mix the grated rind and juice with one cup of water, place over the fire and allow to boil, then add one tablespoon butter, one of cornstarch, wet in half cup of cold water. When it boils again remove from the fire, add a tiny pinch of salt and allow to cool. Break two eggs into a bowl, reserving one of the whites of the eggs. Beat the eggs until light, add one cup of granulated sugar and add to the cornstarch. Pour into a buttered pan and bake until the custard is firm. About 20 minutes will be sufficient. Beat the white of egg to a stiff froth with a tablespoon of sugar and spread this lightly over the top of the custard and return to the oven until a delicate brown. This custard may also be cooked in small individual cups. Fill the cups and set them in a pan, which must be filled with boiling water to nearly reach the top of the cups. When the custards are baked remove from the pan and allow to cool. Serve with a little grated nutmeg on top of each, or a bit of bright jelly.

Tapioca and Milk Soup.

Use half a cupful of tapioca, two cupfuls of water, two pints of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of flour, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, one medium sized onion, two blades of celery and a slight grating of nutmeg. Wash the tapioca and soak it for six hours in the two cupfuls of cold water, then put it in a double boiler and set it on the stove to heat. Put the butter, the onion and the celery chopped fine into a small frying pan and cook slowly for ten minutes; add the flour and stir until smooth and frothy. Pour the contents of pan into a boiler of hot milk, add the salt, pepper and nutmeg and cook ten minutes longer. Strain the milk mixture into the boiler containing the tapioca and cook for half an hour.

Sweet Pickled Peaches.

To seven pounds of fruit allow three and three-quarter pounds of sugar. Put the sugar into a kettle with one quart of vinegar and two ounces each of cloves and stick cinnamon. Pare the peaches and stick a clove or two in each one. Place a few at a time in the boiling sirup and cook until they look clear but are not so soft as to fall apart. When all cooked and removed from the sirup, continue to boil the sirup until it is reduced nearly one-half, then pour over the peaches.

Delicious Fudge Cake.

Break into a bowl two eggs and add a cup and a half of milk. Place in a crock and add two cups of sugar, two cups of flour (sifted two or three times), with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then add four teaspoonfuls cocoa, last add three tablespoonfuls melted lard. Place in pans and bake. Filling—Buy five cents' worth of marshmallows, lay even on china plate, place in moderate oven till marshmallows spread out in shape of the plate; spread between cake layers.

NEVER LET ROADS WEAR OUT

Boston Man Returns From Trip Abroad and Tells of Superiority of European Highways.

Well satisfied that the European countries have little to teach this country in the way of manufacture of motor cars, J. H. MacAlman, president of the Boston Automobile Dealers' association, returned recently.

It was a vacation trip for Mr. MacAlman, but he took care to note the state of the motoring industry in the different countries and to observe the condition of the highways. While praising the magnificent systems of highways in Great Britain and on the Continent, where he found roads everywhere equal to our best, he is of the opinion that the magnificent care that is taken of them. The principal roads are under national control, and are never allowed to wear out. All along the main routes of travel there are posted at intervals men who have a supply of road material at hand, and when a hole appears in the road surface, the road repairers at once pound stone into it and stop the wear. The traffic over these roads is heavy, but on none of them, according to Mr. MacAlman, is the traffic as heavy as that over such a road as the Revere Beach Parkway and other main avenues of motor travel out of Boston. What struck him particularly forcible in England was the fact that no matter where he wanted to go there were first-class roads, due to the fact that England has been building good roads for centuries, while the good roads idea in the United States is scarcely a score of years old.

ARRANGING GRADE OF CREAM

Lack of Quality Has Long Been Detriment to Dairy Interests of the United States.

Increased attention is being given in butter-producing districts to the grading of cream and the arranging of price schedules to conform more nearly with the real value of different grades of the product. Lack of quality has long been a serious detriment to the dairy interests of the United States, regardless of locality. The production of a higher quality of cream by the individual farmer has long been urged by the creamery operators as the prime necessity to the production of better butter. For the most part, however, creamery interests and creamery operators—even under the co-operative plan—have offered no particular inducement to the farmer to improve the quality of his product. Producing cream under the most improved conditions and keeping and delivering it in the best possible condition generally costs more work and more money than the production of an inferior product. As long as cream is paid for on a flat scale at so much per pound of butter fat regardless of condition, the great bulk of farmers are not going to spend money and effort to deliver a high-grade product at the creamery. When, however, a price difference is paid commensurate with the real difference in quality the matter becomes a question of economics, as it properly should, and there is a tangible object in delivering cream of high quality. There is just as much good, sound season back of grading cream as paying for it according to its relative value as there is in the grading of wheat and corn.

Storing Pumpkins in the Field. You needn't expect to reap much profit from gorging your hogs and cattle on pumpkins for a few days during the harvest season, then cutting off their supply of this valuable feed for another whole year. Store your pumpkins in the field.

Pile the pumpkins in a row, as high and as wide as you wish, cover with hay and set up fodder on each side to a thickness of three or four feet. This not only affords ample protection from cold, but it enables you to form a most profitable balanced ration by adding "the fruit of the vine" as you feed out the corn and fodder.

Filling the Orchard. The vacant places in an orchard caused by poor stock, injury in cultivation or borers, it may be as well to fill in with younger trees up to the age of about eight years. After that time the older trees will occupy the ground so fully with their root systems that young trees set make very little growth and seldom amount to much when they arrive at a bearing age.

Sheep in the Orchard. If fruit trees are a good size and there is some wasteful fruit on the ground, or plenty of grass and weeds here and there, to turn a few sheep in, it is more likely to do the ground good than harm. There must, however, be sufficient food somewhere to keep the young from getting hungry enough to get after the bark or twigs.

SCHOOL FAIR AT KELLY.

All Schools Expected To Place Pupils' Work On Exhibition and Prizes To Be Awarded.

The County School Fair will be held at Kelly Station, eight miles north of the city, on the Madisonville pike, Friday, Nov. 15. All white schools of the county will close on that day to attend the fair and all schools are expected to place their pupils' work on exhibition. Exhibits will consist of written work from daily recitations, drawings, domestic science and agriculture, and children are also expected to bring products raised on their parents' farms.

The Boys' Corn Club contest and the Girls' Tomato Club contest will be held at the same time and place and prizes will be awarded. The child having the best work in each school will receive a prize and the school in each division having the best work will be awarded a prize also. The school in the county as a whole, having the best work, will also receive a prize.

On the above occasion the trustees' conference, organized Aug. 27 last, will hold a meeting. The fair promises to be a most interesting and instructive occasion and those who attend may find it sure of a royal entertainment by the people of Kelly and vicinity. Those who go by rail from this city can leave here at 9:55 a. m., returning at 5:35 p. m.

The fair will open at 11 a. m., sharp, and will continue until 4 p. m.

Occupation for Women.

Two women, maybe more, occupy novel positions in the business world in New York. These women are employed by a number of wholesale dress goods and millinery houses to entertain women buyers from out of town. They entertain the visitors at dinner in the theater, and make the sojourners' stay in New York pleasant. The expense, of course, is charged to the houses employing them. The individual charges of these women entertainers usually are about one-fourth of the total expense.

CITY GIVEN SALES ROOM.

Association Controls Majority Of Weed In the District.

After months of persistent and strenuous effort on the part of the leading spirits in reorganizing the tobacco association in the twenty two counties producing the true type of large dark tobacco, James West, the district superintendent, has announced that a majority of the new crop is now under the control of the association and it will continue business. However, there will be no letup in securing further pledges of the crop. Under the arrangement just consummated Muhlenburg, Livingston, Crittenden and Caldwell counties are left out.

In this connection it is well to say that the desired fifty per cent. of the crop raised in this county has not been secured, but from the renewed interest of the growers in a short time this will be done.

We are glad to note that the sales-room will be established here and that two experienced tobacco men have been elected as warehousemen, Messrs. Hugh West and Robt. M.
Woodruff. Prizes are to be elected at a future meeting and ere long the association will be ready for business.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Dr. Perkins Leads to the Altar
a Popular Young Lady.

TAKE BRIDAL TRIP SOUTH.

Happy Culmination of Courtship of Only a Few Months.

Miss Mary Davenport Jones and Dr. Thornton W. Perkins were married yesterday afternoon at 4:45 at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. H. D. Smith, of the Ninth
Christian church.

The wedding was of a quiet nature; there being no bridesmaids and only the immediate relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends were present. The bride, radiantly beautiful in a going-away dress of blue broadcloth, entered the parlors leaning upon the arm of the groom. They presented themselves in front of Dr. Smith who, in a brief but impressive manner, pronounced them man and wife. After receiving congratulations the happy couple were driven to the L. & N. station and started South for a bridal trip.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with crysanthemums and cut flowers.

The bride is the only child of Mr.
and Mrs. Thomas M. Jones. She has been one of the leaders of Hopkinsville society and one of the most popular young ladies of the circle in which she moved.

Dr. Perkins, who came here two years or more ago from Ekton, ranks high in his profession as a gentleman and practitioner and since coming here has made himself quite popular with all with whom he has come in contact.

The bride's trousseau is unusually beautiful and has been greatly admired by her near friends. She was the recipient of a large number of beautiful and expensive presents, including a check for $1,000 from her father.

Dr. and Mrs. Perkins will make their home with the bride's parents.

YOUNG BUSINESS MAN

To Make a Roaring Spring Lady His Bride.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Bacon, of Roaring Spring, to Mr. Robert T.
Stowe, Jr., of this city. The ceremony is to take place Wednesday afternoon Nov. 27, at the home of the bride. They are to make their home here.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bacon, who is well known in this city. Mr.
Stowe is a popular young druggist and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T.
Stowe.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Miss Ellis To Wed Mr. Maxey of New York.

The engagement of Miss Lucile
Ellis and Mr. Robert Maxey, of New York, was announced at a luncheon given by Miss Ellis' sister, Mrs. W.
J. Glover, Monday. Those present were Mrs. Gordon Tanner, Mrs. John P. Thomas, Misses Lucile Ellis, Mary
Jones, Louise Jones, Kate Wallace,
Mary Clark, Mary Wallace and Agnes Flack. The bride-to-be is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Lucy Ellis and is one of Hopkinsville's prettiest girls.

Diamond Ham.

Mrs. Lena Ewell Ham, widow of the late Mat E. Ham, for some years a resident of this county, was married in Detroit, Mich., a few days ago to Cornelius R. Diamond, of Chicago. The bride was reared in Paducah. A few years ago she moved to Chicago with her two daughters, Misses Caroline and Ewell Ham. The groom is in business in Chicago.

PROF. BOWDEN HAS RESIGNED

As Principal of The New Hopkinsville High School.

HIS PLANS NOT ANNOUNCED.

Will Take Effect At the End of This Week With Much Regret By the Pupils.

Prof. A. O. Bowden, principal of the High School, resigned his position Monday night to take effect at the end of this week. Prof. Bowden came here two months ago and has made many friends in the city and his resignation was received with much regret by the pupils, without whom he is quite popular. It is understood that he has another position open to him in a Western state.
No action has yet been taken towards filling the vacancy.

Family Wedding.

Owingsville, Ky., Nov. 6.—One of the most unique weddings on record occurred in this county Monday, when Olive, Sarah and Catherine Story, three sisters, were married to Leonard, Graham and John Perkins, three brothers.

The brides are the only daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Story, and are fifteen, eighteen and twenty years old, respectively.

The bridegrooms are the only sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perkins, and are seventeen, nineteen and twenty-three years old, respectively.

Carroll-Hopson.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 6.—The marriage of Miss Mary Belle Hopson, daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. P.
Hopson, and Ensign Penn Leary Carroll, of New Orleans, La., was celebrated Monday at the Southern Presbyterian church, the Rev. R. L.
Cowan officiating.

The marriage was a brilliant social event and attracted fashionable interest.

Secret Wedding Announced.

The wedding of Mr. Ernest Roberts and Mrs. Annie Hays Snodgrass was announced at the Western Asylum a few days ago. They were married secretly in September both being attendants in the institution.
Mrs. Roberts became ill and her husband hastened to make the news public in order to go to her bedside.

Salter-Cash.

Mr. W. L. Salter and Miss Minnie
Cash, both of whom are attendants at the Western State Hospital, were married at Eddyville Oct. 22, at the home of Mr. R. M. Dunn.

Mein-Fehsenfeld.

Rev. John Mein, pastor of the Baptist church at Cadiz, was married a few days ago to Miss Elizabeth M. Fehsenfeld, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and has returned to Cadiz with his bride.

Editor Kentuckian:
Verily have the Elks of our fair city caught the spirit of their "Big Brother" movement and are showing their faith by their works, as evidenced by a recent donation of $50 to the West Kentucky Orphans' Home. I am pleased to acknowledge this generous donation. It is, indeed, highly gratifying to the management of this institution that its work should receive the consideration and substantial endorsement of men of such standing as citizens and well-known business sagacity. That this splendid order may grow into a yet greater power for good and live long to enjoy the rich fruits of its generosity, is the fervent desire of its well-wisher.

Electric Bitters

Made A New Man Of Him.

"I was suffering from pain in my stomach, head and back," writes H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C., "and my liver and kidneys did not work right, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." PRICE 50 CTS. AT ALL DRUG STORES.

Might Not Be Alive.

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Ocie Jett, of this place, writes: "I don't believe I would be living today if it hadn't been for Cardui. I lay in bed 27 days, and the doctor came every day, but he did me no good. Finally he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about my house doing my work and even doing my washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain, tones up the nerves, builds strength. Try it. At your druggist's.

Appreciative Sol.

Solomon Pitman, a backwoodsman, had been caught on the jury in town and was boarding with a lady who was running a cheap boarding house. Astonished at the amount of butter Sol was eating, she said: "Sol, that butter cost me 25 cents a pound." "Yes, ma'am," said he, taking another large slice, "and it's worth every cent of it."—National Monthly.

A Strain on Art.

Fond Mamma—Here's a photo of my little boy when he was a baby, and I want you to make one of him as he is now.

Photographer—But haven't you brought him with you?

F. M.—No; I thought you would make an enlargement from this.—Pele-Mele.

Diagnosed.

Mrs. Tinkle—They say that Mrs. Neaurich is becoming more proper every day.

Mrs. Dimple—Yes, indeed; you should have seen how mortified she was a while ago when she learned that her husband owned common stock in a railroad.—Satire.

The Wicked Motorman.

"A motorman played a mean trick on a woman yesterday."

"How was that?"

"Just as she was about to get off his car backward he suddenly reversed it, and before she realized what his foul design was, she got off the car in the proper manner."

Running Smoothly.

"No," said Mr. Dustin Stax, "I never interfere in politics."

"Why not?"

"Because I have the affairs of my particular community so competently supervised that I don't have to."

Uncertain.

"Have you ever loaned Brown any money?"

"I don't know."

"I transferred some to him, but I'm not sure yet whether he considers it a loan or a present."

He Knew.

Young Bachelor—I often wonder if I'm making enough money to get married on.

Old Benedict—Well, I don't know how much you're making, but you rent!—London Opinion.

Day and Night Boys.

Grandma—Be careful, Clara! I don't think much of the young men of today.

Clara—Well, just wait until you see the one of tonight. He's a peach.

IMPORTANT PINCH OF SALT

Seemingly There Are Few Dishes to Which It Will Not Impart an Excellent Flavor.

Few housewives, especially the little Mrs. Newbreds, fully appreciate the value of the pinch of salt. Of course, everyone uses salt on meats, and in soups, entrees, vegetables, sauces, etc., but although the cook books do not always include it in recipes for cakes, pies and desserts generally, there is almost nothing from the most dainty gelatine and whipped cream dessert to bread and butter pudding that is not greatly improved by it. You probably would not dream of putting it in a pot of tea, but if you try it you will find that it brings out the aroma of the tea, making it actually fragrant by neutralizing the flatness of the water. This will be found especially so in localities where the water is hard or has a mineral taste. It should always be used in coffee and cocoa. It imparts a mellow taste to coffee and makes the cocoa seem very much richer.

The delicate flavoring of all custard desserts is enhanced by the magic pinch of salt. Put it in pies of all kinds. Use plenty of salt in the pie crust where only lard is used for shortening. Meringues are improved by it.

At preserving time remember the pinch of salt, whether you are making preserves, jelly or marmalade. It simply puts the water where it belongs—in the background, and the fruit flavor stands out preeminent.

These are a few of the out of ordinary, yet everyday, uses of a pinch of salt.—Armour's Cook Book.

FOR PLUM OR GRAPE JELLY

Delicious Preserve. Will Result in These Directions Are Faithfully Carried Out.

Put ripe plums in a colander and pour boiling water over them; then put the fruit in a preserving kettle with barely enough water to cover, and boil until the plums are softened and the juice is plentiful. Strain off the juice and put it on to boil. Measure out a pound of sugar to every pint of the juice, and place it in shallow pans in the oven to heat until the juice has boiled for twenty minutes. Add the sugar then, stirring it in until dissolved and removing all scum as it rises, and pour into glasses boiled in hot water to prevent their breaking when the scalding fluid is poured in. A delicious jelly from wild grapes may be made in the same way, but, remember, if the jelly bag is squeezed the result will be jam and not clear jelly. When the natural dripping seems about over, squeeze out all the pulp that will come through the mesh of the bag and use it for jam.

Peach Shortcake.

Sift one cup of flour, one teaspoon of sugar, two teaspoons of baking powder and a saltspoon of salt. Mix as for biscuit dough two spoons of lard into the flour and with a spoon make a soft dough with a third (or little over) cup of milk. Pat out lightly on molding board and cut into five or six biscuits. Have some melted butter in a small pan and dip the top of each biscuit into this before turning over into the pan ready to bake. Bake until nicely browned in hot oven; then cool, break each apart and place sweetened peaches between. Peel and slice ripe peaches rather fine, then crush with enough sugar to well sweeten. Serve with powdered sugar sprinkled over the tops; pass plenty of rich cream. (Level measures are used for the recipes.)

Preserved Half Peaches.

Clingstone peaches are the best. Pare and cut them in halves. Remove the stones and cook the stones in water for twenty minutes. Use the water for making syrup in which the peaches are to be cooked. For preserving, use as many pounds of sugar as there are pounds of fruit and one cupful of water to each pound of sugar. Boil the sugar and water until the syrup is clear, then drop in a few peaches at a time, until they are cooked. Put into jars which have been sterilized and seal them while they are hot.

Mutton Pie.

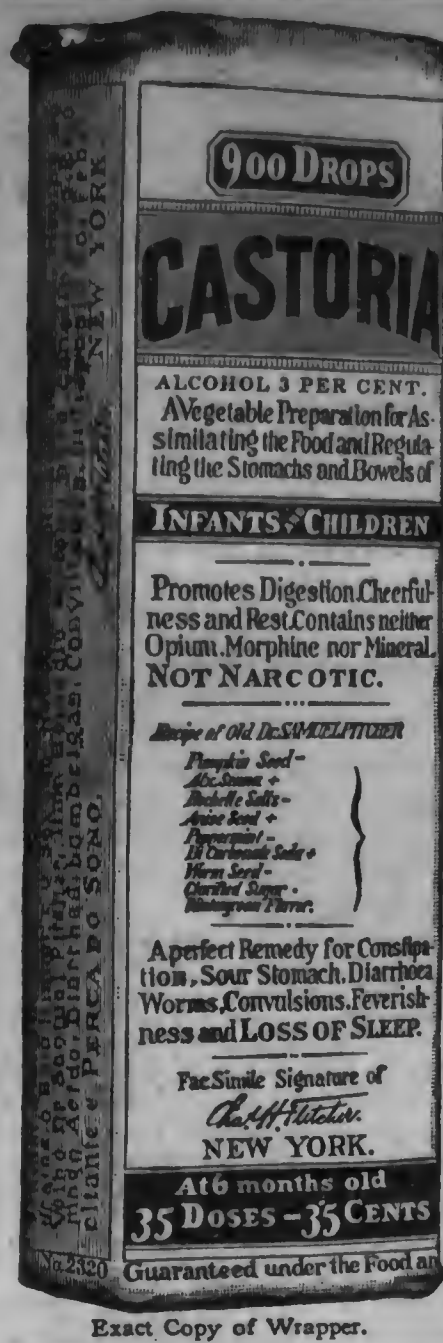

Boil one and one-half pounds of mutton from the forequarter with sliced onions and carrots. Boil six or eight potatoes. Make a cupful of mashed potatoes. Slice rest of potatoes and put them into baking dish with the mutton and the other vegetables. Add to the mashed potatoes one tablespoon butter, one-half cup flour (or enough to roll mixture out for a crust) and a level teaspoon of baking powder. Put this mixture over meat and bake in a quick oven until crust is brown.

Rice Croquettes.

Boil for 30 minutes one cup of well-washed rice in a pint of milk. Whip into the hot rice the following ingredients: Two ounces of butter, the same of sugar, a little salt. When slightly cool add the yolks of two eggs, well beaten. If too stiff pour in a little more milk. When cold roll in small balls and dip into beaten eggs. Roll in fine bread or cracker crumbs and fry the same as doughnuts. Serve very hot.

Clean Utensils.

Boardboards and other kitchen utensils made of wood may be kept clean, white and stainless by rubbing with soap and lukewarm water, to which may be added a little common soda or household ammonia.

NEED IS FOR SPECIALIZATION

Work of Years Has Shown That Education of Children Cannot Be Standardized.

If the children came into the world standardized like the parts of an automobile, the educating of them would be a much simpler matter than it is today. Likewise, it would be a deal less interesting.

Fortunately or unfortunately, children are not so standardized. One has a ten-candlepower intellect, so to speak, and one a three. Moreover, even those who have substantially the same brain power, require different treatment to get that brain power in action.

To vary the metaphor, one child has the entrance to the house of his mind on the front porch, where everyone can see and reach it. Another, with quite as large a house, may have the entering door hidden in some side angle, where the casual passerby will never see it.

The boy of 15 who drags in his class in fifth grade can grasp an electrical problem better than his father or his teachers. In that line, he is ahead of the average high school student. The house of his mind has its door in an electrical recess.

The world did well to insist on education. The world will do better when that education is more individualized, more fitted to each special case.

REALLY NOT WORTH HAVING

Average Person Will Think Suitors Were Foolish to Quarrel About This Woman.

She was a beauty of a somewhat cow-like type—phlegmatic and indifferent—and she had lived in a little suburban town all her life. Her circle of admirers had dwindled down to two suitors—one in a distant city, who did his courting by letter, and the other on the spot—and she couldn't make up her mind which she would have.

"You don't know what a bother it is, Cousin Mary," she remarked to a relative who was trying to sound her on the subject, "this decidin' between James and John. They're both of 'em good enough fellows. Some people want me to have James—he's the one out west. He's right well off an' could give me a good home; but I guess I kinder favor John the most. Pa likes him, too. Pa don't care for James; but then John ain't got much money. Well, I don't know what I'll do. Maybe it would be easier to have John, he lives right next door, an' I wouldn't have to go travelin' way out west after I was married. But then James is so well off! Say, Cousin Mary, s'posin' you jest decide for me. I'll take whichever one you say!"

NOT ALL GUARDSMEN.

It is not infrequently said that a British Guardsman, or "Guardee," as an officer of the household troops is familiarly called, enjoys an advantage over his poorer neighbors in the rest of the army. If he has, he does not take advantage of it. The majority of well-known generals never served an hour in the elite corps of the army. Lord Roberts was an artilleryman; Lord Kitchener an engineer; Lord Wolsey, the late Sir William Butler, Sir Redvers Buller, and Sir George White were infantrymen; Sir John French, Sir Robert Baden-Powell were in the cavalry, and Sir Evelyn Wood has been in both cavalry and infantry. Lord Methuen is the best known of those who were promoted from the Foot Guards.

WIT and HUMOR

GOOD DEFINITION OF "SNAP"

Near-Sighted Man Enters Wrong Flat and Shoots Man and Woman, Then Discovers Mistake.

A number of players and playwrights were discussing the question of what constitutes the "snap" so persistently demanded of the dramatist by the manager of today.

"I have talked to so many managers on this subject," said one writer, "but none has been able to give me any very definite notion as to just what 'snap' is."

"I can help you out," said Eugene Walter. "I have an idea for a one-act play that just bursts with 'snap.' I'll give it to you. Here it is:

"Play opens with man and woman in drawing room, seated side by side on a sofa and embracing each other passionately.

"Enter to them a man with a suitcase and an umbrella. He is, of course, to all intents, husband unexpectedly returned.

"Husband no sooner takes in the situation than he yanks out a revolver and shoots both man and woman.

"Then he takes out his glasses, puts them on, looks about him, and suddenly gives a start.

"'Merciful heavens!' he exclaims. 'I'm on the wrong floor!'"

Poor Girl.

"How long have you been married?" "It will be six months next Thursday."

"And do you still regard your husband as the most wonderful man who ever was born?"

Then the poor girl broke down and sobbed piteously. When she could trust herself to speak again she said:

"No, Charles has disappointed me terribly. I'm afraid I have wrecked my life. Last night when I asked him to get up and see if there wasn't a burglar in our room he bumped his nose against the edge of the open door and he said three simply awful swear words just as if they came natural to him."

A GOOD EXCUSE.

The Customer—See here, I caught one of your bartenders putting water in the whisky today.

The Proprietor—Well, sor, ye see, we have to make some concessions to the tim'rance people.

Anxious to Serve.

Lawyer—It is reported that you have frequently expressed yourself as opposed to capital punishment?

Deacon Highsoul (drawn for jury duty)—I won't have no scruples in that man's case. He cheated me or a hoss trade once.

His Point of View.

Here's a story of a ninety-pound London woman who thrashed her brute of a husband so soundly that he's in the hospital for a long stay.

"I wonder when the London police are going to put a stop to these suffragist outrages?"

Rough on the Boys.

Professor—The average American girl is poorly educated.

Girl Graduate—You think so?

Professor—Yes, but there is one consolation, the average American boy will never find it out.—Satire.

Her Poise.

"Isn't Mrs. Coinhunter's poise superb?"

"Yes, indeed! Coinhunter told me once it was her balance that first attracted him."—Judge.

Descriptive.

Bobby—Uncle, couldn't a fellow have a fine Sunday's dinner if he was as hungry as me an' as roomy as you? —Tit-Bits.

Walking Talk.

Bill—Do you know at just what age a child begins to walk?

Jim—No; nor a cheese, either.

FRANK TANNER.

Hopkinsville Boy Who Is Making Good In Eddyville.

The Lyon County Herald contains a good picture of a former Hopkinsville boy and thus tells how he is making good in Eddyville:

"The above picture is that of our distinguished fellow townsman, Mr. Frank Tanner, who ranks as one of the leading merchants of Lyon county."

Mr. Tanner was born in Hopkinsville twenty-four years ago, the second son of E. Tanner, for thirty years a successful and popular merchant of Hopkinsville.

When Frank first left the parental roof, he accepted a position with a large dry goods establishment in Memphis, Tenn., from where, though offered many flattering inducements for one so young, he resigned his position to launch in business at Eddyville for himself and three years ago he brought out the Eddyville Mercantile Co. He now has one of the most beautiful stores in the county, and where he is enjoying a splendid trade as one of the high esteem in which he is held by the people. His store has been known as Tanner's Bus. Store since his advent, of which he is manager.

Shortly after coming to Eddyville he married Miss Ida Bier, of Hopkinsville, who, with Robert Campbell, assists him in the store.

Mr. Tanner is a member of the W. O. W., is Grand Sachem of Tribe No. 298, Red Men of America, and member of Princeton Lodge of Elks No. 1115. He is very popular with all classes.

Tanner's Busy Store keeps a large, well selected line of everything kept in any first class dry goods store and sells as reasonable as can be bought anywhere."

More Careless Driving.

A little boy about 12 years old and a bicycle was knocked down at the corner of Main and Ninth streets Tuesday afternoon. A negro man was driving a horse at a slow trot attached to an express wagon and as he turned into 9th street from Main was looking around and did not see the boy until one of his front wheels had struck the boy. The bicycle was broken, but the boy was not injured.

LYNN NORRIS

Hopkinsville Opera House, Friday.

November 8th.

"THE BELL HOP" the 2 act burlesque musical comedy which will be presented by Messrs. Marple and Norris at Holland's Opera House on next Friday night is by far the best musical comedy that has been presented here up to the present time this season. It has the swing and the life that go to make up a real musical comedy. The chorus has been carefully selected both for their beauty and their singing and dancing.

The company carries their own special scenery and electric effects.

The principal character is taken by

E. Manley Norris who is well known as a comedian and in this part as "Will-he-Hurry" the bell hop he has an excellent opportunity to display his ability. During the course of play, there are several feature vaudeville acts presented the headliner of which is "The 12x2 Band" during which act twelve musical instruments are played at the same time

by one man.

Local Paragraphs

Only a week and the quail hunters will be in the field.

About the most quiet election here in town that was ever known. The Republican leaders did nothing to bring out their votes.

Haven't heard anything of that railroad from here to Owensboro for a long time. The $6,000 was raised and the officials were notified but there seems to be nothing doing.

Dr. Lillian South will speak at the Christian church tomorrow night. Mrs. South comes here under the auspices of the City Improvement League. She is the state bacteriologist and everybody should hear her. No admission fee.

The weather was everything that Democrats could wish for on election day.

The tens of thousands of birds and martins that made their roosting places in the shade trees all over the city, received a wireless message last Thursday night that a taste of winter weather was headed this way and left for the Southland Friday night. The English sparrows, like the poor, are always with us, we are sorry to say.

Did you ever think about how many different things the fair grounds can be used for when we get them? Chautauquas, picnics, barbecues and a whole lot of other things.

The carpenters are nearly through with their work at the Rex picture show building. The ornamental work was shipped this week, the marble for the main entrance will soon be put in and in two weeks you may expect the pictures to begin to move.

This is the month when the turkey "gets it in the neck." Turkey in Europe has been getting it in the neck in every battle with the Germans.

Everybody has cause to be thankful and of course they are, whether they stop the gobble of the gobbler or not.

Several young men in the city renounced the party of their fathers and voted for Wilson and Marshall.

Tobacco Christmas money is the next thing to be thought of.

Everybody now get down to business.

Next year every county office is to be filled except that of Circuit Court Clerk, and there are a ready-made prospective candidates.

ANOTHER OWL SHOOT.

Members Of Company D Showed Another Good Record.

There was a lively contest at the armory last Monday night in the owl shooting match of five men to the side. The prize was a two pound box of Jacob's chocolates, given by George Duffer, the confectioner in the Princess building. R. Hayes was captain of the first team and C. Radford, captain of the second team. Below is the score:

CITY CHURCHES

Are Planning to Hold Home Missions Union Services.

At the meeting of the ministers of the different denominations held last Monday the holding of a series of union meetings the latter part of this month was discussed. The object is to arouse interest in home mission work, and while details have not been arranged it is most probable that five services will be held and different ministers will deliver addresses each night.
